Gregory M. Caffas is an associate in Best Best & Krieger LLP's (BB&K) Telecommunications Practice. He serves public and private clients in a broad range of telecommunications litigation, transactional, and regulatory matters involving broadband and fiber networks, cable and telecom franchising, leases and licenses, wireless communications and public-private partnerships.

Greg has notable experience handling complex civil litigation, with a focus on Telephone Consumer Protection Act defense, VoIP and telecommunications compliance, and commercial litigation. He has litigated matters on behalf of individual and corporate clients in Virginia state courts, federal district and appellate courts throughout the country, and before the FCC. Greg utilizes his litigation background to devise strategic solutions tailored to his clients' specific needs. Having litigated a multitude of individual, class-action and government-enforcement suits, Greg is well equipped to counsel clients to find solutions both in and out of the courtroom.

Prior to joining BB&K, Greg was an associate at Roth Jackson Gibbons Conklin, PLC in Tyson's Corner, Virginia.

Greg attended the George Mason University School of Law, where he served as associate editor of George Mason's Journal of International Commercial Law and as an executive board member of the Trial Advocacy
