Gregory M. Caffas is of counsel and a member of Best Best & Krieger LLP's (BBK) Telecommunications practice group. He serves public and private clients in a broad range of telecommunications litigation, transactional and regulatory matters involving broadband and fiber networks, cable and telecom franchising, leases and licenses, wireless communications and public-private partnerships.

Greg has notable experience handling complex civil litigation, with a focus on wireless siting, Telephone Consumer Protection Act defense, VoIP and telecommunications compliance and commercial litigation. He has litigated matters in state and federal courts throughout the country, as well as before the FCC. Greg utilizes his litigation background to devise strategic solutions tailored to his clients' specific needs. Having litigated a multitude of individual, class-action and government-enforcement suits, Greg is well equipped to counsel clients to find solutions both in and out of the courtroom.

Greg's transactional practice includes assisting clients with drafting and negotiating cable and telecommunications franchise agreements, telecommunications facility leases and licenses, conduit licenses and pole attachment agreements.

Greg also has an extensive background in regulatory advice and advocacy. He regularly provides advice regarding compliance with federal and state laws and regulations, especially concerning wireless siting, shot clocks and other regulations governing permit applications. His practice also includes drafting and revising local codes, applications and processes governing wireless facilities siting and right of way permitting. Greg has also assisted clients in filing comments in proceedings before the FCC and NTIA.

Greg is originally from Pittsburgh and is an avid Penguins and Steelers fan (the Pirates are intentionally omitted). In his free time, Greg enjoys spending time outdoors with his wife and two children, especially to visit national parks.
