He organizes and represents domestic, as well as international, businesses, trusts and estates. He represents his clients in commercial contract negotiations, asset protection, wealth preservation, regulatory compliance on a state and federal level as well as corporate and employment matters.

Dan founded and managed his own law firm, Kehr Law, for 12 years before joining BB&K. His experience as a business owner makes Dan uniquely suited to approach legal representation from the business owner's perspective.

Dan grew up in Huntington Beach, Calif. He was an NCAA intercollegiate baseball athlete and received many honors for both his academic and athletic achievements. He completed his studies at California Western School of Law in 2 years, and passed the California bar exam while studying at the University of San Diego.

At age 8, Dan started his first business, "Dan's Bird Farm," where he bred and supplied exotic birds to the four local pet stores in Huntington Beach. Dan now enjoys spending time with his two boys, golfing, starting businesses, giving back to the community, feeding the homeless, traveling, watching sports and eating sushi.
